

ARIA

is NOT unique?

DRANGLE

(There is a small shop like it in New York)

The fire department prohibits smoking in the auditorium.

The house manager prohibits refreshments in the auditorium.

The stage manager prohibits picture taking during performance.

The actors, however, have been known to encourage laughter and applause.

ABOUT THE PLAYERS:

LARRY O'DWYER (Isaac) makes his second appearance this season in "The Last Sweet Days of Isaac" following his delightful portrayal of Moon Martin in "Anything Goes." A long-standing and outstandingly popular member of Theatre Three's company, Mr. O'Dwyer has starred in numerous musicals (such as "Stop the World" and "Forum"), classics (such as "Tartuffe" and "The Venetian Twins"), European avant garde plays (such as "Pantaglieze" and "A Man's a Man") and numerous contemporary dramas and comedies. He served as director this season for "Nobody Loves an Albatross" and the children's show "Rumplestiltskin."

LYNDA IVEY (Ingrid-Alice) is a native Texan who lives in New York where she recently ended a long and successful run in the revue at the Upstairs at the Downstairs. A veteran of many stock companies, Miss Ivey has been in leading roles in "The Apple Tree," "Born Yesterday" and "Stop the World." In one dinner theatre appearance she played Lucy in Mr. O'Dwyer and Mr. Alder's musical spoof "Count Dracula: Or, a Musical Mania from Transylvania," a production directed by Mr. O'Dwyer.

LARRY WHITCHER (Zeitgeist) adds a new dimension to his range of appearances in many musicals for Theatre Three with his assignment in "The Last Sweet Days of Isaac." Earlier this season he was Billy Crocker in "Anything Goes." He has also played leads in "The Fantasticks," "Celebration," "A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Forum" and "The Boy Friend."

LINDA HENDERSON, SANDRA McBRIDE and FRAISER McCONNELL (Zeitgeist) are all making Theatre Three debuts in "The Last Sweet Days of Isaac." Miss Henderson, a drama and music student at North Texas State University, has joined Theatre Three's company as an apprentice for the summer program. Sandra McBride was "discovered" by director Alder last summer when she was a featured performer in the Neighborhood Youth Corps original musical presented at Memorial Auditorium. Fraiser McConnell is a voice major at the University of Texas at Arlington.

LANNY TEMPLE (Henry) seems to be typecast. He played a policeman in last season's production of "The Adding Machine" also. Mr. Temple is a student at North Texas State University's drama school.

A NOTE FROM THE DIRECTOR

Dear Playgoer: We hope it's no secret that Theatre Three is seeking support. By coming to see us you've done the primal thing and we appreciate it. If you are able to make any contribution of money to our current campaign we'd appreciate that, too. (And how!)

And there are two more important things we'd like you to consider doing for us. Tell you friends about "Isaac" so they will come and leave some room in the budget to buy season tickets for next year! We want to see you again!
